Re-imagining Your Classroom

Planning to Use the Active Learning Center

Think beyond the traditional classroom that you are most accustomed to teaching in.

Consider how the ALC space can transform teaching and learning given its fluidity.

Design natural learning environments that present an intellectual challenge.

Keep the space flexible, fluid, and open-ended to meet learner needs.

Engaging Learners in the Active Learning Center

Facilitate learner use of the environment and seek their regular input on design.

Engage learners with symbolic representations and visual cues when teaching.

Create connections with students, a sense of place and belonging for them.

Face barriers and identify solutions together. Create a shared experience.
